Construction project management requires the skills and expertise of a traditional project manager but applied to the construction industry. Because a construction project is always shifting, an ideal construction project manager must possess a large array of experience and know-how to handle diverse teams and meet assorted objectives. Construction contractors get the majority of their jobs by bidding on projects. While builders often get training or mentoring in construction skills, they usually learn about bidding and how to develop a winning construction bid on the job, and experience painful mistakes along the way. With over 500,000 users downloading 3 million documents per month, the WBDG is the only web-based portal providing government and industry practitioners with one-stop access to current information on a wide range of building-related guidance, criteria and technology from a 'whole buildings' perspective. The University is committed to ensuring that individual employees and applicants are not excluded from participation in the employment process based on an individual's legally protected status which includes race, color, ethnicity, religious creed, age, sex (including pregnancy and sexual harassment), marital status, national origin, ancestry, sexual orientation, genetic information ...
