If you're looking for an easy quilt border with a lot of character, try out the Seminole Patchwork Diamond Border! The pretty diamond pattern is made in the style of traditional Seminole clothing patchwork, which can be time-consuming to sew, but looks great and uses up tiny scraps of fabric. I have been working on this Seminole Patchwork Sampler recently, and today I taught a class on how to do Seminole Piecing at my local quilt shop. Two wonderful students, Jane and Linda, participated in the class and we had a wonderful time learning the cutting and piecing techniques for these fabulous bright strips. Seminole Revisited Quilt Pattern \$ AUD 11.90. Traditional Seminole patchwork is a strip piecing technique devised by the Seminole Indians of Southern Florida. By sewing strips of fabric together, cutting and setting on an angle, they created many beautiful and seemingly complex designs. It is a technique that has always fascinated me.
