The Staffordshire Bull Terrier is a small to medium sized, short-coated breed of terrier from England. The Staffordshire Bull Terrier descends from purpose bred 19th century dog fighting and rat baiting dogs, but throughout the 20th and 21st centuries it has become an extremely popular companion dog. The Staffordshire Bull Terrier is a smooth-coated dog. It should be of great strength for its size and, although muscular, should be active and agile. At 14 to 16 inches, Staffies do not stand ...

The History of the Staffordshire Bull Terrier. The various bully breeds, as they're nicknamed, have been around for centuries. They date at least as far back as the 15th century, when bullbaiting -- the harassment of a bull by a bulldog-- was not only the preferred way to tenderize meat on the hoof, it was also a popular form of public entertainment.
